PREMIER KING WILL ATTEND LEAGUE SESSION

Prime Minister informs Parliament He Will Head Canada's Delegation at Important Geneva Assembly in September

At Coronation In London Next May

Ottawa, June 23.—Prime Minister King will head Canada's delegation to the meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva in September. He will also attend the coronation of King Edward and the Imperial Conference in London next May. Because of those journeys he will be unable to go to France next month to attend the unveiling of the Canadian War Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

Mr. King announced his intentions to the House of Commons today in answer to questions. He said he had asked Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and Health, and Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence, to represent the government at the Vimy ceremony.

At the fall meeting of the League Assembly, the revision of the Covenant and reorganization of the League will be discussed.

Conservative Leader Bennett commended Mr. King's decision, and said it was highly desirable the Prime Minister should attend such an important meeting.

The assembling of the next session of Parliament would depend on developments of Geneva, said Mr. King.

Important decisions were arrived at requiring parliamentary ratification. Parliament might be assembled late in November of this year. The government's present intention, however, was to call Parliament earlier in January and endeavor to conclude before the coronation on May 12.

SESSION ENDS AT OTTAWA

Commons Completes Business and Clears Way For Formal Closing Ceremonies

Ottawa, June 23.—Parliament was prorogued this afternoon. The ceremonies, which occupied the better part of an hour, were completed before 6 p.m.

Ottawa, June 23.—The House of Commons completed its business and was ready for prorogation of Parliament at 5:50 this afternoon (12:50 p.m. P.M.T.). Mr. Justice Rinfret was scheduled to preside as Deputy Governor-General at the closing ceremonies.

The end came after contentious discussion of an item of $15,000,000 related to wheat operations.

It was an item in the main estimates, representing the balance between the cost of the wheat taken over last December by the Canadian Wheat Board from the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited and the market price that day.

Conservative Leader Bennett opposed the voting of the sum as "worse than criminal" as he claimed it provided for an "arbitrarily established" loss.

The session ended today began, February 6.

STORM DEATHS IN ENGLAND

Liverpool, June 23.—Several persons were dead and large areas in Cheshire, Derby and Lancashire were flooded today following heavy storms which swept England last night. The deaths were due to accidents or to the current heavy wave.

Hundreds of houses were flooded along the reaches of the Mersey River, rising in north Derby and flowing into the Irish Sea at Liverpool. Railway transportation was seriously hampered in places. The Mersey Road station at Liverpool was under water.

EMPIRE SALUTES KING EDWARD VIII ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Royal Family Attends Traditional Ceremony of Trooping the Color in London; Salute Fired in Victoria

By THOMAS T. CHAMBERLAIN
Canadian Press-Staff Writer
London, June 23.—Disregarding sultry heat and threats of thunderstorms, thousands of people assembled today around the Horse Guards parade ground in Whitehall to see King Edward VIII attend the ceremony of trooping the color, traditionally observed on the sovereign's birthday.

It was His Majesty's forty-second birthday and the first time he had attended the ceremony as king.

Wearing the scarlet tunic and black bearskin of the colonel-in-chief of the Grenadier Guards, the King, mounted on a chestnut charger, led a glittering cavalcade along the Mall towards the parade ground amidst roars of cheering.

Immediately behind the King rode his three brothers, whom only today he appointed as personal aides. The Duke of York, the heir-presumptive to the throne, wore the uniform of colonel of the Scots Guards. The Duke of Gloucester wore the uniform of a major of the Hussars and the Duke of Kent wore the uniform of colonel of the Royal West Kents.

Behind these rode three more of the King's personal aides—Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Earl of Athlone and the Earl of Harewood.

Following this entourage came foreign military attaches and His Majesty's Indian orderly officers, in magnificent uniforms and brilliantly colored turbans.

The total number of cars registered in the province to date is 84,364, of which 67,928 are passenger machines and 16,436 are commercial vehicles.

During May licenses for 8,199 cars were issued this year, as compared with 7,245 last year. This included 6,985 passenger cars and 1,214 commercial cars.

AL CAPONE IS WOUNDED

Convict J. C. Lucas Inflicts Light Stab With Scissors at Alcatraz

Washington, June 23.—The Justice Department said today that Al Capone had been "slightly injured" when struck with a pair of scissors by another inmate at Alcatraz Prison, San Francisco.

The official report of the attack on the Chicago gang leader, now serving a long prison term for violation of the income tax law, said:

"Warden James Johnston of the Alcatraz Penitentiary reports that between 9:30 o'clock and 9:45 (P.M.T.) today, Alphonse Capone was slightly injured by James C. Lucas, a prisoner from Texas serving thirty years for bank robbery."

Capone was at work between the clothing room and the shower room. Lucas had gone to the barber shop, adjoining the clothing room, for a haircut. He grabbed up a pair of scissors and, running about ten feet, wounded Capone in the back.

The guard at once intervened. Lucas was placed in solitary confinement. Capone went to the institution hospital, where the assistant medical officer examined him and reports that he would appear superficially all right.

Lucas gave as his motive for the wound examined him in the back.

Government Holds Seat In Omineca

Mark M. Connelly, Liberal, Returned in Northern Riding at By-election With Comfortable Majority Over C.C.F. Candidate

Mark M. Connelly, a prominent lumber man of northern British Columbia, will sit for the riding of Omineca at the next session of the Legislature.

Standing for the Liberal party, Mr. Connelly won yesterday's by-election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation last year of A. M. Manson, K.C. (now Mr. Justice Manson).

In thirty-four polls reported out of thirty-nine, Mr. Connelly was only thirty votes short of having a clear majority over his two opponents. His plurality was 189.

The vote with the five polls to hear from, was: Connelly 837, Sidney Godwin, C.C.F., 648; Dr. Alfred Thompson, Conservative, 211.

FIRST TEST
As the vote was the first real test at the polls of the administration of Premier Pattullo since he took office in November, 1933, the win for the government candidate was warmly welcomed by the cabinet here.

PREMIER GRATIFIED
"The Liberal victory in Omineca is what I had expected," said the Premier. "After visiting the constituency during the last few weeks, I realized the people were satisfied with the Liberal administration in this province, and willing to follow the same course they have since 1916, when Mr. Manson was first returned as a Liberal."

Woman Held As Slaying Investigated

Los Angeles, June 23.—A mother was booked on a suspicion of murder and her eighteen-year-old daughter was held as a material witness today in police investigation of the slaying of Herman Jacobs, Great War marine lieutenant.

Mrs. Caroline Lindahl, forty-two, was jailed after questioning in which she insisted she last saw Jacobs alive Sunday night. His body was found in a vacant lot yesterday.

In Jacobs' room, detectives found a receipt for $750 bonus bonds cashed June 15. None of the bonus money was on the body.

Sir Herbert Marler Appointed Canada's Representative to the United States and Will Be Succeeded at Tokio By Mr. Bruce; Changes Announced By Premier King

Mr. Bruce Well Known in Victoria

Ottawa, June 23.—Approval by King Edward VIII of the recommendation by the Canadian Government that Hon. Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan, be named to the diplomatic vacancy in Washington was announced by Prime Minister King in the House of Commons today.

At the same time the Premier gave out that Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, would succeed Sir Herbert at Tokio.

The preliminaries in connection with the diplomatic changes have been concluded, both foreign governments having informed the Canadian government that the respective ministers would be acceptable to them.

Formal appointment by the government of Sir Herbert Marler and Mr. Bruce will be made by order-in-council within a few days.

Sir Herbert Marler is at present in Tokio. It is expected he will return to Canada some time next month, and will begin his duties at Washington early in the fall.

HOLIDAYING IN U.K.
Mr. Bruce is at present holidaying in the United Kingdom.

Sir Herbert Marler, Canada's first diplomatic representative to Japan, has occupied that post for the last seven years. He was accredited Canadian minister to Tokio in January, 1929.

He entered the political arena in 1921 when he was elected Liberal member for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George, and served in the House of Commons until the general election of 1925. In that period Sir Herbert presided over several important parliamentary committees. He was, however, chiefly identified with the work of the committee on transportation and trade which culminated in the Canada-West Indies trade agreement of 1925.

In that year he became a member of the privy council and minister without portfolio, but was defeated at the ensuing general election.

During the war Sir Herbert was fuel administrator for the province of Quebec, and for many years member of the education council of that province.

KNIGHTED IN 1935
For his services as Canadian minister to Japan, he was awarded a knighthood in the King's birthday honors, June 3, 1935. He was then made Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

He is descended from an old Quebec Protestant family, the first of whose line was an Anglican clergyman.

Pacific Shipping Plans Are Explored

Canadian Press
London, June 23.—The Imperial Shipping committee met late today at the Board of Trade offices to consider prospects for British passenger and cargo shipping service between British Columbia and the Antipodes.

Sir Halford Mackinder, expert on economies and chairman of the committee, presided.

The meeting began shortly after 10 a.m. Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, had told the House of Commons the governments of Great Britain, Canada, New Zealand and Australia had decided to ask the Imperial Shipping Committee to examine the traffic possibilities.

He said these governments also would ask the committee to study whether a service along the lines suggested by the shipping interests concerned would be appropriate, and the probable financial results of such a service. In this connection, Mr. Runciman said existing British services between Victoria and Vancouver and Australia and New Zealand, and between San Francisco and New Zealand would be taken into account.

SUBSIDY QUESTION
The committee also would be asked to examine whether such a service would have ill effects on any other British shipping interest, the cabinet minister said. He indicated the committee would investigate the question of a subsidy.

Federation of Industries Points London's Attention to Growing Competition in Empire as Plans Made For Revision of Ottawa Pacts

Canadian Press from Havas

London, June 23.—Future empire agreements should give United Kingdom industries results equally as satisfactory as those obtained by industries in other parts of the empire, the Federation of British Industries contended today in a report of British tariff policy.

The report said: "Industrial opinion is convinced the most effective manner in which this can be obtained will be through full implementation of the guarantee given by the Dominions of British industry at Ottawa (at the 1932 Imperial Economic Conference) that tariffs should be based on the principle that 'protective duties shall not exceed such levels as will give the United Kingdom producers full opportunity for reasonable competition' and that protection by tariffs should be afforded against United Kingdom products 'only to those industries which are reasonably assured of sound opportunities for success'."

"The federation therefore has no hesitation in asking the government in concert with the governments of the Dominions that the policy laid down at Ottawa should become fully operative."

COMPETITION GROWS
The present treatment by Britain of manufactured goods imported from the Dominions should also be reconsidered, the report said.

"The increasing competition" war-ants such a study, the federation contends.

CONFERENCE SOON
The report follows by a week the announcement of Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, that preliminary discussions looking to revision of the Ottawa pacts would begin shortly with the Canadian government.

At that time Mr. Runciman told the House of Commons a number of industrial bodies, including the federation, the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and the National Union of Manufacturers, had been asked to furnish observations to the Board of Trade.

PROTECTION QUESTION
The federation report raises the question of possible protection for industries of the United Kingdom against competitive empire products.

"The Federation of British Industries," it said, "considers it neither equitable nor in accord with the ideas underlying the Ottawa agreements that the British manufacturers be debared from any measures of protection against competitive empire manufacturers, the more so since Dominion manufacturers receive substantial protection against the United Kingdom."

Empire Salutes King Edward VIII On His Birthday

by the Princess Royal, the Duchess of York and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. A second, at the Palace of St. James, was given by the Duchess of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent. These royal ladies viewed the spectacle from a balcony draped with scarlet and gold on the Horse Guards arch.

As the King rode on the parade ground he looked up smilingly and saluted his birthday.

The historic ceremony was conducted with the customary matchless precision. The King at the saluting base sat motionless while the Royal Horse Guards marched past, first at slow and then at quick time.

The ceremony of trooping the color followed, so far as the public was concerned.

As the court is still in mourning for King George, there was no elaborate entertainment planned. The King and some friends were scheduled to enjoy a private dinner party at St. James's Palace in the evening. There was a family luncheon at Buckingham Palace.

Throughout the United Kingdom and the empire, the birthday was celebrated with customary ceremony at all stations of the navy, the army and the Royal Air Force.

Victorians heard a royal salute, making the King's birthday, fired at military headquarters here at noon. The same procedure was carried out at the headquarters of all military districts in Canada.

Ottawa, June 23 (Canadian Press).—In honor of King Edward's forty-second birthday, a royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired today from Parliament Hill. The guns were fired at intervals of ten seconds.

Government Holds Seat in Omineca

There have been two other by-elections since the general provincial election of 1933, but both were in the early months of the present administration's term.

With a smaller vote cast, yesterday's poll in Omineca followed closely that of the general election, but with majorities reduced.

In 1933, Mr. Manson had a plurality of 541, with the C.C.F. candidate second, and a majority of ninety-two over the combined vote of three opponents. Mr. Manson held the seat for the Liberals from 1916, when the riding was formed, until he resigned last year to run unsuccessfully for Parliament in Vancouver South.

The by-election result left the standing of parties in the Legislature unchanged as follows: Liberals 34 C.C.F. 7, Non-partisan 2, Independent 2, Unionist 1, Labor 1, and 1 seat vacant.

The by-election was a curtain raiser for a summer of political activity in British Columbia. The events listed so far are: A Conservative convention in Vancouver next week to choose a new provincial leader, a Liberal association, executive meeting in Vancouver next month, a province-wide speaking tour by Premier Pattullo, and a by-election in Vancouver-Burrard riding in September.

The new member-elect, Mr. Connelly, has lived in Omineca for twenty-five years, and is the principal owner of Fraser Lakes Sawmill Ltd. at Fraser Lake, where he operates a lumber mill, the operations and a general store. He inaugurated with the help of several semi-public bodies the first shipment of aspen pulp logs from British Columbia to China in the winter of 1934-1935, and followed it with another shipment last winter. The logs are used for matches.

BEES SEEK TO LIVE AT HOTEL

Apparently aspiring to quarters more befitting her status than a common hive, a queen bee, followed by a long train of admirers, sought a new abode at the entrance to a downtown hotel yesterday afternoon, tying up traffic and puzzling the management of the hotel for almost an hour.

An officer of the law was reluctant to tackle the swarm, and was about to turn in a call for assistance when George Barnes, 608 Toronto Street, equipped with ladder and whisk-brush, calmly swept the humming cluster into a cardboard box and walked away.

Diplomatic Post For Hon. Randolph Bruce

man sent to Quebec by King George III in 1768.

Sir Herbert himself was born in Montreal sixty years ago, and following early education at the Montreal high school, was graduated bachelor of civil law from McGill University in 1898.

In 1902 he married Beatrice Isabel Allan of Montreal. Three children were the issue of the marriage, two sons and one daughter.

To his many friends in Victoria, the appointment of Hon. R. Randolph Bruce as Canadian minister to Japan will come as a pleasant news.

During his five years at Government House, Mr. Bruce was extremely popular with those in all walks of life. He became one of British Columbia's best-loved administrators.

Of tireless energy, abundant good humor and possessed of the priceless gift of understanding the many problems of those engaged in building up this province, he was at all times willing to lend a helping hand, and he was just as ready to accept a personality which made him universally liked.

He is one of those Scotsmen to whom Canada owes a lot for its development.

Born in Glasgow in 1863 he was educated at Gymnasium (Old Aberdeen) and Glasgow University, where he graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Engineering.

As a young man he earned for a more adventurous career than that offered by the firm of Denny Bros. Dumbarton shipbuilders, where for four years he was in the scientific department. His imagination was fired by the constant coming and going of ships and in 1881, only eighteen years of age, he came out to Canada.

SI A DAY.
He often recalls that he started work in Canada at $1 a day on an in-boarding job. For ten years he was with the Canadian Pacific Railway, on construction work.

Offered the chance to go back to Glasgow to his old job, he had the vision and foresight to see the opportunities open for a persevering young man in this young country.

While working for the railroad he became interested in the mineral wealth of the Dominion, and in 1897 joined H. C. Hammond of Toronto as partner in the Paradise Mine at Windermere, and other mining ventures. His association with British Columbia continued from that time. At the turn of the century he attended the first convention of the B.C. Mining Association, held in Victoria. He held the office of president of the Mine Owners' Association of British Columbia for three years.

In 1927 Mr. Bruce received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws of Glasgow University at a distinguished gathering.

TERNS IN VICTORIA
He became Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia in February, 1926, and left in February, 1931. It was during this time that Victorians came to know him so well.

He took an interest in sports, dramatics and all community endeavors, attending the gatherings of the local associations and generously donating trophies for competitions.

The militia movement found him a hearty supporter, and his interest in the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment culminated in his appointment as its honorary colonel.

A genial and democratic host, he made his regime at Government House notable for its gracious hospitality. While there he entertained the present King, then Prince of Wales.

Last October Mr. Bruce ran for Liberal candidate in Kootenay East against Hon. H. H. Stevens, but was unsuccessful.

France Urging Regional Pacts

Blum Proposes Western Europe, Danube and Mediterranean Mutual Assistance Treaties

Associated Press

Paris, June 23.—Premier Leon Blum's government announced today it would attempt to hasten the negotiation of three regional mutual assistance pacts to safeguard Europe against war.

One pact, based on the Locarno Treaty, would apply to western Europe. The other two would embrace the countries of the Danube Basin and the countries along the Mediterranean.

Premier Blum personally read to the Senate a declaration in which was explained France's willingness to remove sanctions against Italy. "Ivon Delbos, Foreign Minister, read the same declaration to the Chamber of Deputies."

AGREEMENT WITH GERMANY
Premier Blum expressed his sincere desire to find a basis of agreement with Germany on a new security plan.

Referring to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's repeated declarations of peaceful intention, the new French Premier said: "We do not doubt his word as the word of a war veteran who, during four years, knew the misery of the trenches."

The Premier said that in matters of foreign policy, France pointed out the "great English" democracy, to help reconstruct collective security, and counted also "on the cordial sentiments of American democracy, the natural freedom of free peoples."

THREATS AGAINST NO LAND
The statement read by M. Delbos said: "France will examine the German suggestions (for a new security agreement) with a sincere desire to find a basis of agreement."

"But this agreement can only be reached if it responds to the principle of indivisible peace without a threat against anyone."

He declared, however, France intended to keep her army strong, saying: "We will not commit the imprudence of immediately proportioning to our hope our defensive forces, which must still be kept at the level of the national defense's immediate needs."

LEAGUE REVISION

The government statement said France proposed to overcome the weakness of League of Nations' action against aggressors, as shown through the Italo-Ethiopian war, by eliminating the necessity for a unanimous decision by the League in dealing with threats of war under Article XI of the League covenant.

After proclaiming France's "desire for peace," M. Delbos declared the new government had no intention of "preaching a crusade" against any other regime such as Nazism or Fascism.

MILITARY ACTION

Under the announced plan, for regional mutual assistance pacts, the members of regional pact groups would be prepared to make war against any aggressor within their group while other members of the League of Nations would apply economic and financial sanctions against the aggressor at the same time.

In connection with the proposed pact of western European powers for mutual aid, France proposed to limit aviation forces, concerning which knowledge of Germany's attitude was awaited, was "highly desirable."

POLICE HUNTING THREE YOUTHS

Vancouver, June 23.—Police today were searching for three youths who had escaped from a police officer after being discovered in an attempt to break into a service station at Millardville, near New Westminster.

An automobile which the youths were using was abandoned and later found to have been stolen from Vancouver.

Police believe the boys were the same trio that failed in an attempt to steal an automobile owned by W. E. Riddell of Vancouver.

Mr. Riddell discovered his garage had been entered and his car taken. He and his son found three boys attempting to start the machine several blocks away.

They gave chase and captured one of the youths, but he escaped before police arrived.

BENNETT SAYS HE EARNS SALARY

Ottawa, June 23.—Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett made a denial in the House of Commons today he had monopolized the attention of the House this session.

A few days ago Agriculture Minister Gardiner charged Mr. Bennett had monopolized 52 per cent of the time of the House this session.

Today Mr. Bennett said it was not correct: "The fact is that not 25 per cent of that figure has been taken up by me," he said.

Mr. Bennett said that as leader of the Opposition he was paid on official salary, and he proposed to earn it.

Everybody agreed Mr. Bennett earned his salary, interrupted Premier King, and he would be entitled to a bonus if he would permit prorogation by noon.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

I'VE CUT MY FOOD BILL 10% THIS MONTH!

YES! That's correct. I tried purchasing my supplies at my neighborhood Piggly Wiggly Store for four weeks. Net result, I've saved four dollars and fifty cents and, candidly speaking, I'm tickled to death. That money used to go in transportation shopping which is wasted time when you consider the everyday lower prices in effect at the Piggly Wiggly Stores. A trial visit to your nearest Piggly Wiggly will convince you.

M'GEER'S NAME ON CORNERSTONE

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 23.—Mayor G. G. McGeer's name will be cut in the granite of the cornerstone for Vancouver's new city hall. This was decided by the city council at a special meeting yesterday.

Last Thursday the aldermen, after a lengthy discussion on the subject, called to Mayor J. G. Macdonald, city architect, who informed them the usual procedure was to have a simple inscription on cornerstones and that names were not generally used.

It was then decided to leave the issue for discussion at a special meeting.

The giant tortoise of Mauritius spent 160 years on the island before it was removed to England. The age of the reptile is unknown since it was of great size when brought to Mauritius from Aldabra.

Limits For Appeals Are Urged Senate Debates Privy Council

Hon. R. Dandurand, Liberal Leader in Upper House, Suggests No More Appeals From Canada to London Except on Constitutional Questions

Ottawa, June 23.—Senator Raul Dandurand, government leader in the Senate, favors "abolition altogether" of appeal to the Privy Council in London in legal actions.

Quebec province, the Liberals told the Senate yesterday, would accept finality of judgments of the Quebec Appeal Court in civil actions and not carry appeals to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Senator Dandurand was speaking on a motion of Hon. J. P. B. Casgrain, Liberal, Montreal, that in the opinion of the upper House a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, when unanimous, should be final except in constitutional cases. The motion was later withdrawn by Senator S. E. Little, Liberal, Ontario, on behalf of Senator Casgrain.

"This sentiment in favor of appeals to a tribunal across the seas is born of a feeling which I can only define as a colonial inferiority complex," Senator Dandurand said in advocating abolition of all appeals to the Privy Council. That stage should be passed in the national life of Canada, he added.

"We must be more self-reliant and more confident in our own cultural and intellectual attainments."

QUEBEC CIVIL CODE
In civil actions in Quebec province the civil code, based on the old Napoleonic Code, prevailed, and this differed from the British common law prevailing in the other provinces. Why, Senator Dandurand asked, should an appeal lie in these civil actions from decisions of the Quebec Appeal Court, whose judges had made an intensive study of the civil code, to the Supreme Court of Canada, where only two of the seven judges had specialized in the laws of the civil code?

In his legal experience, Senator Dandurand stated, he had more than once realized that appeals to the Privy Council had operated as an injustice in many instances to litigants, particularly poor ones suing corporations. There had been two many appeals to the Privy Council.

The agreed members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council were learned judges.

FOR CANADIANS
"But," Senator Dandurand declared, "I am of the opinion Canadian justice for Canadians should be ample and satisfactory."

Senator Little said he was speaking at the request of the Montreal senator in his "unavoidable" absence. Senator Casgrain took the stand his motion was to save $7,000 or $8,000 to poor unfortunate litigants and to "stop blackmail which winners suffered often" by threats of appeals by corporations, thereby forcing compromises, Senator Little declared.

Senator Casgrain considered foundations of the British Empire would not be shaken by restriction of appeals to London.

CEMETERY CRIME
Baltimore, June 23 (Associated Press).—Police blamed superstition today for one of the strangest thefts on record—the removal of the hands from a corpse. Grant Biddle, a cemetery caretaker, reported the grave of John D. Johnson, a negro healer, had been dug up, the casket opened and the hands cut off.

Inquire About Heligoland Forts

Associated Press
London, June 23.—The British Government has instituted an inquiry into a reported re-fortification of Heligoland by Germany.

Foreign Secretary Eden told Commons yesterday: "I have seen reports that Heligoland is being fortified in contravention of the Versailles Treaty and I am making inquiries."

Heligoland, an island in the North Sea, was heavily fortified by Germany before the Great War and served as a naval base during the war. The post-war Versailles Treaty specified Heligoland should not in the future be fortified.

Rotarians At Big Convention

International Delegates Hear E. R. Johnson, President, at Atlantic City, N.J.

Associated Press
Atlantic City, N.J., June 23.—Ed. R. Johnson of Roskoke, Va., president of Rotary International, told 10,000 delegates at the opening of the organization's twenty-seventh annual convention here yesterday that Rotary might some day be the only stable link of friendship between nations.

With the rapid growth of nationalism during the past few years, he said, it was becoming increasingly difficult for citizens of different countries to meet cordially under one roof, but Rotarians have "held themselves" together.

"In the eastern Mediterranean region," he said, "the Rotary Club is the only place where Moslem, Jew and Christian will break bread together."

Coins Minted In Canada $45,251,902

Commons Informed of Output Since 1858, But Government Cannot Learn How Many Now in Circulation

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 23.—Metallic Canadian coins valued at $45,251,902 have been minted since 1858, but there is no way of knowing how many remain in circulation, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday in reply to a question from G. G. McGeer. The Vancouver-Burrard Liberal presented an exhaustive list of questions covering Canada's financial status, borrowing, debts, interest payments, Dominion and provincial debts and money in circulation, silver and gold holdings and financial procedure.

On January 1, 1936, the return showed, there were $99,577,227 bank notes in circulation in denominations of $1 to $5.00.

Regarding borrowings, it was shown the Dominion had issued for refunding and other purposes in maturities of one year or more $3,680,387,983 from 1914 to 1935 inclusive. The average interest rate was 5.28 per cent and $2,293,902,691 was paid in interest on Dominion Securities from 1914 to 1935 inclusive.

TOTALS OF COINS
Of the metallic coinage referred to there were $2,849,021 in copper 1-cent pieces and $5,114 in 1/2-cent, nickel 5-cent pieces were minted to the value of $2,470,500; silver 5-cent pieces, $6,020,802; silver 10-cent pieces, $9,387,344; 20 cents, $210,000; 25 cents, $14,871,403; 50 cents, $3,986,618; silver dollars, $582,720.

Gold coins were issued to the extent of $927,634 in sovereigns, $3,360 in $10 pieces and $1,358,040 in $5 pieces.

The first silver dollars were minted only a year ago and cost 1 1/2 cents each to mint. Cost of distributing them throughout the country depended on the distance they had to be carried.

Canadian Press
London, June 23.—In his first honors list, published today on the occasion of his fortieth birthday, King Edward VIII honored Queen Mary.

First announcement in the list was that "it is His Majesty's pleasure to confer the title and dignity of Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order" on the Queen. The order was founded by Queen Victoria and was opened to women a short time ago.

The services of several residents of the British West Indies were recognized in the list, while Rev. Oliver Jackson was made a member of the Order of the British Empire for social services in Newfoundland.

In accordance with the wishes of the Canadian government, Canadians were omitted from the list as they were in the New Year's honors list of the late King.

New peerages were conferred on: Sir Herbert Austin, chairman of the automobile manufacturing firm which bears his name.

WARNING LIGHTS FOR SPEAKERS

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 23.—A system of automatic lights similar to ordinary street traffic signals is being used to keep speakers in order at the convention of the State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America here.

Five minutes before the scheduled time limit of each speaker a green light flashes on the box-light apparatus set on his table. With one minute to go a yellow light appears. When a red light comes on time's up and whether or not he is finished the speaker must sit down.

As a result of their signal system, the convention authorities are running their programme on schedule. Sessions opened yesterday.

Edmonton Names Liberal M.P.P.

Alberta Legislature in Three-cornered Contest

Canadian Press
Edmonton, June 23.—Liberals here scored a victory in the first contested by-election since Alberta's Social Credit government was voted into power last August 22. Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal candidate, was elected on the first count in the by-election to fill an Edmonton seat, retaining that seat for his party.

Defeated in the general provincial election last summer, Dr. Morrish was chosen yesterday under the single transferable vote balloting system in a three-cornered fight with Alderman Margaret Grant, Unity Front, and Alderman H. D. Ainley, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

The official count was:—Morrish 9,803, Grant 6,129, Ainley 2,056.

SUCCEEDS W. R. HOWSON

Dr. Morrish will take the seat vacated by W. R. Howson, Liberal Party leader, who was appointed to the Alberta Supreme Court bench. The standing in the Legislature will be the same as after the general election.

Social Credit (government) 56, Liberal 5, Conservative 2. Total 63. Social Credit and Conservative forces did not nominate a candidate for yesterday's contest. Voting was light, only about 18,000 persons of the approximate 50,000 on the list marking a ballot.

Edmonton's representation in the Legislature will continue to be three Liberals, two Social Crediters and one Conservative.

Many Happy Returns

THE SCENE: WHITE LODGE.
Richmond Park, a few miles from where Captain Vancouver is sleeping his last sleep in Petersham Churchyard, a stone's throw from the top of Richmond Hill, whence one of the most famous views of the winding Thames can be obtained, the old Star and Garter in the southwest corner of that historic site! And this is what made that scene more famous still forty-two years ago at 10 o'clock tonight—just this simple announcement:

June 23, 1894.

Her Royal Highness the Duchess of York gave birth to a son at 10 o'clock this evening. Both mother and infant are doing well.

JOHN WILLIAMS, M.D.
FREDERICK JOHN WADD, M.D.

This is the birthday of His Majesty King Edward the Eighth—the "infant." He is forty-two today. We of Canada salute and say simply: "Many Happy Returns of the Day!" We say it sincerely on this, his first birthday as head of the greatest empire the world has ever seen, because we have come to know something of his sterling worth, because we feel that he is a Canadian citizen, for is he not a Canadian rancher?

We say it because we feel that he meant it when he said: "I am the same person I was when I was Prince of Wales." He also said that he intended to follow in his father's footsteps. There was never any doubt about it. He is, as King George the Fifth was, a man of the people; a man who wanted to know, and having found out, wants to make his contribution toward the amelioration of the hardships of that class of society which has to grit its teeth, grin and bear it—the "under-dog," for whom the King has always had the kindly word.

Little can be said here which already has not been said. And it is a commonplace to say that King Edward has an infinite personal charm. We of Victoria know that. Seventeen years ago he saw that great "Welcome" sign in the Inner Harbor as he arrived in this city for the first time, and thought it was "marvellous." Afterward we had the pleasure of welcoming him again. And we remember him for the half-fellow-well-met sort of chap that he proved himself to be.

We do not feel that we are being in the least flippant in alluding to the forty-two-year-old monarch in these terms. We feel that he always has been, and is always will be, a good sport. The reason is that he, like his late father, has traveled the highways and byways of the world, has got to understand the ways, the manners, the tragedies and the triumphs of all kinds of people and is thus able to draw on a vast storehouse of memories and experience.

King Edward the Eighth began his job under conditions which were not a little disturbing; but so did his father a year or so before the Great War—but like "Mr. Britling," he saw it through. So will his successor.

It is a truism that since the beginning of kingship it has been a case of "uneasy lies the head that wears the crown." On his forty-second birthday, however, King Edward the Eighth need have no qualms. His buoyant nature and human outlook will enable him to bear the burdens of his exalted office with a comparatively light strain upon his physical and mental resources.

Above all, we may be quite confident that the King will adhere to the rigid concepts of public duty, not forgetting his natural insistence that there must be a better deal for the unfortunate.

To King Edward the Eighth, then, we say again: "Many Happy Returns of the Day!"

Bruce to Tokio

BRITISH COLUMBIANS, AND
especially the citizens of Victoria, will be interested and pleased to learn that Hon. Randolph Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of this province, has been appointed to the important post of Minister for Canada at Tokio, succeeding Hon. Herbert Marler, who will go to Washington to replace Mr. Herridge, who resigned his office several months ago.

Changes in the diplomatic service of all countries follow as the day follows night. It is as it should be. Mr. Marler has discharged his duties at Tokio admirably. Mr. Massey, now Canadian High Commissioner in London, was the first Minister from Canada to Washington, and he acquitted himself outstandingly well. Hon. W. D. Herridge likewise was an able representative at the capital of the neighboring republic.

We in this province, of course, feel that the King government has selected wisely in its appointment of Hon. Mr. Bruce as the Dominion's representative to Japan. It can be said without fear of contradiction that nobody who has served the public of British Columbia as did the former Lieutenant-Governor knows this province better than he does.

This is important because British Columbia, as it were, is at Japan's front door with much to sell—and, of course, we must be prepared to buy as well—and the Dominion's newly-appointed envoy will be in his element when the vast potentialities of this province are discussed. But Hon. Mr. Bruce, too, knows the rest of Canada as well as he knows the province in which he has spent so many years of his life. Hence, he will be a worthy representative of the Dominion in the capital of a most progressive Oriental nation.

Faithful Omneca

THE ELECTORS OF THE FAR-
flung provincial riding of Omneca obviously are satisfied with the manner in which their business has been conducted by the Pattullo government. This is the only interpretation which can be put upon the election yesterday of Mr. Mark Connelly, the Liberal standard-bearer, who will now take the seat in the Legislature formerly occupied by Mr. A. M. Manson, now Mr. Justice Manson.

As this is written, with five polls to hear from, the vote stands as follows: Connelly, Liberal, 827; Godwin, C.C.F., 658; Thompson, Conservative, 212. This gives Mr. Connelly a lead over his nearest opponent of 169. It is not expected that the returns from the other unreported districts will materially affect the result.

The verdict will be cold comfort for the Canadian Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The party was well organized and hopes of winning the seat ran high right up to the eve of the poll. The Conservatives, moreover, with an old campaigner in the field backed by many years of experience in the House of Commons at Ottawa, cut a very sorry figure.

It is not to be wondered at that the Liberal candidate did not poll as many votes as Mr. Manson did at the last general election in 1933, for Mr. Manson had represented the constituency since 1916, and had risen from private member to the Speakership and afterward to the Attorney-Generalship.

In his first bid for parliamentary honors, however, Mr. Connelly may extract a good deal of satisfaction from the fact that his tally yesterday was only about 200 less than Mr. Manson's in 1933.

The Pattullo government may take the verdict of Omneca as a tribute of no mean order.

Canada in the Air

VIC-MARSHAL W. A. BISHOP,
V.C., Canada's distinguished airman, who made a great name for himself in the war, appears to be more than a little disappointed that civil aviation in this country has made such slow headway, compared with that made by other countries, in the last decade.

Colonel Bishop puts it quite plainly when he says that aviation owes nothing to Canada, that we, with the possible exception of Russia, need more from aviation than any other country in the world. Our position, he says, is vastly inferior to that of any other country of our size or population.

This is only too true. Commercial flying in the Dominion, chiefly because of the sparsity of our population, is making haste very slowly indeed. This is not to say that trade and commerce and the traveling public do not recognize its importance; but there does not seem to be that enthusiastic air-mindedness which has marked the rapid development of aerial travel in other countries in the last decade.

We have yet to see established in Canada a trans-continental air mail service. Our air mail goes through the air on the other side of the international boundary. It is gratifying to note, however, that no longer does the general public regard travel by airplane as a novelty. As it increases in popularity, therefore, its more intensive use will impel expansion.

Editorial Notes

"We allow Junior to develop naturally without restraint" usually means, "anything to avert a row."

A poor memory is often a great blessing. Who could lift his head if he could not forget the times he played the fool?

There is something to be said for the point of view of the cynic who said that to civilize people just list all the things they are naturally inclined to do and say "Don't."

Too many investors from their own experience are now inclined to agree with Sir Philip Gibbs when he says, "It is better to give than to lend, and it costs about the same."

"It is no longer necessary," says The Revelstoke Review in referring to the popularity of Canada's new silver dollars, "to fumble in a pocket among a handful of paper and coins to secure a bill of low denomination." Was it ever?

But the way, King Victor Emmanuel of Italy ought to thank Premier Mussolini for giving him a new job, for is he not now Emperor of Ethiopia? Il Duce must have gone through a period of severe restraint to pass on to somebody else such a high-sounding title.

Mr. Winston Churchill has accused the Baldwin government of zig-zagging in its foreign policy. But is not Mr. Churchill Britain's prize-winning zig-zagger in the political realm? After all, he has been Tory, Liberal, Tory again, and now is, or was, a Constitutional, whatever that term may mean.

Loose Ends

A gentleman fails to contribute money, but offers a great thought—two great stars blow up—the negroes show their disappointment and Henry obliges.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

STREET SCENE

A LADY FRIEND of mine was tagging on a busy street corner last Saturday and not getting very much money for her efforts. Presently a well-dressed, elderly man approached her with a look of intense concentration, his eye fastened on the tin collection-box which the lady carried in her hand. She thought that here at last was a substantial contribution. She expected the old gentleman to give her a dollar at least.

He stood there and fastened his hand tightly on her arm and fixed her with his glittering eye. He spoke in a low, tragic voice. Said he: "Do you know that that black fellow, Louis, got over $200,000 for being licked by that other fellow Schmelling last night? Great God!"

Then, without giving the lady a nickel, he strode off down the street muttering to himself.

BLACKS

IN HARMONY the other night they must have been thinking about the same thing. When black Mr. Louis was knocked cold by white Mr. Schmelling the negroes of Omneca expressed their disappointment in a quaint fashion by shooting up, holding up, beating up and knifing any stray white man they could find. It took 700 policemen to soothe Harlem's disappointment over Mr. Louis.

Just a few days before, somewhere in the South, a civilized white American lynched and burned two negroes and then, according to sworn eye-witness testimony, fought to get pieces of the charred bones for souvenirs of the occasion.

If you are expecting a quick reformation of civilization on this continent through some political system or other, you might note these two incidents. They have a certain significance. Men like Mr. Roosevelt, the Democrat, and Mr. Thomas, the socialist, are working with pretty difficult material when they try to give America a more abundant life. Also, the youngsters of Canada, many of whom keep telling me that eventually this country will just go into the political union with the United States, ought to remember that Harlem and the deep dark South are as much a part of the United States as Seattle.

THREAT

AS A MATTER OF FACT, our own civilization is just a matter of time before it is practically all the more advanced most of the female population of Canada at breathless before the radio last Friday to hear as soon as possible when one ignorant bruiser knocked the dim wits out of another of a similar mentality.

But on this subject I am afraid to write at length for I have been threatened. I have been threatened by one of the most civilized and learned men of Victoria, a gentleman in a high official position with a Ph.D. behind his name. Said the Ph.D. to me: "If I'm not educated, who is? And I love prize fights, and if you write any more about prize fights, I'm going to fight you right now. I would not like to be beaten up by a Ph.D., so I am leaving that important issue alone."

It is interesting to think, however, that eight people in America were so overcome with intellectual excitement when Mr. Louis, the negro star, blew up, that they died of heart failure at their radio. How many people, I wonder, will die at the thought of the prize fight which took place last Friday night? Not many, I dare say. But when our tenth-rate star, the sun, blows up one of these days, people here will develop a new interest in astronomy.

ORGANIZED

MEANWHILE, members of that same race of humans who can die of heart failure over the bruising of two ignorant bruisers, are busy examining the phenomenon of a star blowing up 3,000 years ago. They can tell you all about it, where it blew up, how long its dying light took to get here and almost what it ate the night before it died.

They have the whole universe so organized and rationalized that they know the names of all its inmates and have them numbered like prisoners in a jail. But they can't organize or rationalize this grain of dust we call the earth. They can't even make the League of Nations work or see that everyone gets enough to eat. We are still bent at bruising.

PROSPERITY

IN OTTAWA this week it was stated that 1,244,951 persons were living on unemployment relief allowances as against 1,277,464 at this time last year. In Ottawa it is being announced almost every day that Canadian business has all but recovered from the depression. Probably it is as good now as it was in, say, 1926, but a million and a quarter Canadians are on relief.

At this rate, the volume of business in 1929, our peak year, would still be far from sufficient to solve the unemployment problem. The sooner we realize that this is a problem which will long outlast the present period of recovery and that a large part of the unemployed will never be employed again, the sooner we shall begin to do something permanent about it. Meanwhile we are borrowing all the money used to support the unemployed, as if they were a revenue-producing asset. Still, after seven years, we have never faced the problem.

PRISONER

HENRY IS BACK. I thought you would like to know because there has been some anxiety about him at our lake. Henry, as you may remember, has only one hand and this makes it difficult for him to earn a living. It is only by the absence of one hand that we can distinguish him from the other crawfish.

Henry is the standby of fishermen at our lake. The little boy from next door can always count on Henry. When he ties a piece of bacon rind to a string and lowers it to the bottom, Henry, eager to oblige an old friend, will invariably grab it with his good hand and allow himself to be pulled up and imprisoned in a pail of water. Until bed time, when he is always poured into the lake again. It is estimated that Henry spends half his life in prison, and all on account of his weakness for bacon rinds. From now on through the summer he will be jailed most of the time. Let this be a warning to you.

HEALTH INSURANCE

To the Editor:—Writing on health insurance, "Sign Post" in your paper refers to results in England. According to statistics the fraternal societies have decreased in membership by the hundreds of thousands.

The situation in B.C. will be different, as here, I take it, the citizen who is a member of a fraternal order will have the advantage in exemptions. With employers having to contribute 2 per cent into the fund for each employee, as I see it, the members of a fraternal society will naturally have the advantage of non-members when seeking employment.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE

To the Editor:—With some friends from California as visitors during the week-end, I took them to Foul Bay Beach. They were enchanted. It excelled any beach they had in the Golden State, they said, not only because of the fine stretch of sand, but because of its safety and freedom from combers sweeping in from the Pacific like they have on their beaches. But when they found there was not a drinking fountain, a restroom or a dressing-room for swimmers on the whole stretch of beach there wasn't an explanation I could offer to their surprised queries, except maybe Victorians didn't pay high enough taxes or that the high cost of unemployed labor was too great for such a heavy undertaking that might involve $150,000 of that we drank sea water when we were thirsty in Victoria.

FRIENDLY HELP WORK

To the Editor:—The chief work of the Friendly Help Welfare Association at the present time is the carrying on of friendly case work. This work aims at preventing family breakdowns and promoting self-dependence of the individual. We try to help each individual to understand his problems, and to find his own solution. We endeavor to make available community resources and offer him certain tangible services, such as arranging holidays, improving housing conditions, teaching sewing, helping with budgeting small incomes, giving temporary financial assistance. The services of the association are available to families resident in Greater Victoria.

At the present time the association is working under great financial difficulty. Last year we did not hold an intensive campaign for funds, but depended a good deal on those known to be very definitely interested in the work that is being carried on.

The question is sometimes asked: "What is the value of family case work to a community?" It appears difficult for the general public to appreciate the value of this work. Its aim is to keep people socially well instead of merely providing for their material needs after they become socially ill. In the same way, a public health department aims to keep people physically well instead of attempting to cure them at great expense after they become sick. The child is the main object of interest.

At this rate, the volume of business in 1929, our peak year, would still be far from sufficient to solve the unemployment problem. The sooner we realize that this is a problem which will long outlast the present period of recovery and that a large part of the unemployed will never be employed again, the sooner we shall begin to do something permanent about it. Meanwhile we are borrowing all the money used to support the unemployed, as if they were a revenue-producing asset. Still, after seven years, we have never faced the problem.

to the family case worker, for he may often be trained to self-dependence even if his parents have become unable to support him now. Thus the results of family case work are far-reaching and its objectives slow in attainment. This work originated in England many years ago, and is becoming more and more recognized as a valuable and necessary service.

It is also asked at times why it is necessary that we should employ trained workers. It should be pointed out that, although it might appear a simple matter to adjust social difficulties, it is recognized by those familiar with the work that family case work demands a far greater understanding of human nature and human behavior than most people possess. It is one of the least recognized and the most complicated of sciences in that knowledge of many other sciences is involved.

The Friendly Help Welfare Association employs a staff of two trained workers and an office secretary. There are also a number of volunteer workers, who assist the association.

We are most anxious that the public should lend its financial support and ask that cheques be sent to the Friendly Help Welfare Association at Welfare House, 1234 Pandora Avenue. REV. F. COMLEY, President. Friendly Help Welfare Association. P. E. WINSLOW, Chairman finance committee.

From The Toronto Mail and Empire
There seems to be pretty general agreement with the right of a parent to chastise a child, but the authorities say it must be done at a time when the parent's anger is cooled. Isn't this putting the cart before the horse? Nothing so cools a parent's anger, and does him so much good emotionally as to administer a necessary spanking when he is mad.

Must lower interest rates mean LOWER INCOMES?

Here is a Modern Plan for Making Up the Deficiency

A few years ago your estate was perhaps, adequate to care for your dependents—sufficient to provide an income for yourself after retirement. Is that true today? At present low interest rates what yearly income would your estate earn?

A quick and certain means of building up your estate is afforded by an Imperial Income Protection policy. In case of your death the full value of the policy will be immediately available for your dependents; and in case you live capital will be accumulated to provide an income for yourself after you retire from business life.

Such a policy will guarantee to you, for example, (a) $50 or more a month for life, beginning when you are sixty, (b) $5,000 or more in cash for your dependents if you die before age sixty, and (c) absolute safety for your investment regardless of the ups and downs of business.

There is no necessity for worrying about low interest rates. Get information about how an Imperial Life policy will endow your estate with ample income-earning power.

DO NOT WANT CROWN COLONY

Not Objective of New Economy Group, Says H. Despard Twigg

"We do not want a crown colony," declared H. Despard Twigg, secretary of the Vancouver Island Provincial Association, which was formed a few weeks ago for the purpose of promoting some form of autonomy for the island, in his first public address before the Gyro Club at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"People who say we do show they know nothing of the history of the British people. Whenever the colony has shown it is able to govern itself, it has always been the policy of the British people to allow it to do so. Therefore England would not take over Vancouver Island," Mr. Twigg said.

This was no new political movement, he said. It was purely educational and as secretary of the association, it was his duty to point out the true position of Vancouver Island. He felt that the movement had gained great support already and the "curbstone backing" in Victoria was at least 80 per cent.

ROAD EXPENDITURES

The greatest reason for the need of a change was that for years and years the mainland had despoiled the island. Since 1917 the island had paid $24,000,000 as their share of $72,000,000 for roads in the province but since 1850 only $6,900,000 had been spent on island roads.

The climate and scenery were the island's greatest assets, Mr. Twigg declared. The climate was of no avail unless people could be induced to live here.

"We must not tax people so heavily as we do," Mr. Twigg said. "Many of the wealthy people who built houses here have left because of taxation."

The scenery was useless unless it could be seen. There were parts of the island which were as beautiful as Switzerland and which he himself had never seen despite the fact that he lived here thirty-five years. The west coast road, which had been played with by government after government, was necessary for tourists as well as military purposes.

ISLAND MOVEMENT

This was not a Victoria movement, Mr. Twigg declared. In fact, the association would concentrate its efforts up-island for some time as it would be a great mistake if they got the idea that it was just a Victoria movement.

The provincial government had made thirty land grants to Vancouver valued at millions of dollars. How many had they made to Victoria? The city spent half a million for its watershed and not a dollar came from the government.

The provincial government had $5,800,000 property in Victoria which was not taxed and from which the city lost a revenue of $150,000 a year. The argument put forward by the legislature was the civil servants. There were only 710 civil servants here, Mr. Twigg compared with 1,200 in Vancouver.

The speaker noted a state of apathy on the island. The reason for the government was that the party funds and patronage came from the large centre.

"We're not going to start a revolution, but we want your help," Mr. Twigg said. "A lot of people want to know what we would do with the Parliament Buildings. We can deal with when we come to it. Victoria needs a new city hall."

Waldo Killings, president, was in the chair. Len Woodhouse, past president, introduced a new member, Bernard Gough.

WHEAT MARKETINGS

Ottawa, June 23 (Canadian Press)—Markings of wheat in the prairie provinces in the week ended June 12 totaled 2,550,504 bushels, compared with 2,407,290 the previous week, and 2,701,486 the corresponding week in 1935, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Group Meeting Features Told

Mrs. M. G. Moore and Herbert Clark Report on Stock-Bridge Assembly

Outstanding features of the national assembly of Oxford Group adherents in Stockbridge, Mass., were described by Mrs. M. G. Moore and Herbert Clark, who returned recently from the big meeting, before the congregation of Oak Bay United Church Sunday evening. The service was in the form of an Oxford Group rally.

Mr. Clark spoke of the larger scope of the Oxford Group, now embracing the whole world. He defined the primary object of the church as bringing Christ as a vital reality into the hearts of men and women today. Such an experience had come to him through the willingness of another person to share his experience and help him find the blocks in his life keeping him from God, Mr. Clark said.

At the assembly, Mr. Clark said, he had made the decision to put the Kingdom of God first and to work along spiritual lines for world unity and peace, instead of following material methods, no matter how worthy.

Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman's transatlantic speech, the impressive pageant depicting the trend of the times towards spiritual awakening and the meeting in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, attended by 3,000, were also described by Mr. Clark. He said that he had gained a picture of the way in which people could work together under God's guidance, giving an example in George Light, British Labor man, and Sir Philip Dundas, Conservative. He told also of George Eastman, Los Angeles building supply dealer, who is seeking through business to uplift the world rather than gain money.

Mrs. Moore said that the keynote of the assembly had been a God-controlled world. She stressed the necessity for changed individuals, getting rid of the things keeping them from hearing God's voice. In the 3,000 people attending the assembly there was an interesting contrast, she said, giving as examples Dr. J. D. Duns, leader of the Socialist party in Holland; Lord Addison, Conservative member of the House of Lords; Germans, French, society girls and merchants.

Consider New Council Power

Amendment to By-law to Give Greater Control at Meetings in Esquimalt

A proposed amendment to the Procedure By-law received preliminary readings at a special session of the Esquimalt Council last night without any alteration.

The provisions of the amendment, notice of which was given at last week's meeting of the council by Councillor Philip S. Going and seconded by Councillor Thomas Hadfield, are briefly as follows:

To permit a motion to suspend a councillor or member of the audience from the council chamber in case of disorderly conduct.

To compel the withdrawal of the person in question at once from the immediate precincts of the council chamber.

And to provide the chair with authority to call the police and have the person ejected in case of non-compliance with the motion.

The amendment will come up for final passing at the next meeting of the council.

NEW TIPS ON HOW TO BID GIVEN IN SHORT SERIES

McKenney Starts Four Articles of Advice Taken From Latest Book About "Winning Bridge"

By WM. F. MCKENNEY

This is the first of a series of four articles based upon less known, but fundamental, bidding situations discussed by Charles H. Goren of Philadelphia in his new book, "Winning Bridge Made Easy." The questions are so vital and the manner of their presentation is so clear that I have decided to give you the benefit of Goren's advice.

FITS AND MISFITS

The proper understanding of what a fit and a misfit are is one of the distinguishing features of a good bridge player. This consideration is quite as important as the matter of honor tricks.

Two hands fit well when there is communication between them, so that a player may get back and forth between them.

Therefore, when you have a void of your partner's suit, you have the worst possible misfit because you may be asked to lead into it. If you have a singleton of his suit it is also a misfit, but not as bad as the void.

In other words, the more strength you have in your partner's suit, the better is the chance that the hands will fit.

There are, of course, degrees of fit.

Today's Contract Problem

Your partner has opened the bidding with one heart. You hold the following hand. What should be your correct response, and what is the principle governing your choice of a bid?

♠ K J 5 4
♥ 3 2
♦ Q 10 7 5
♣ 8 7 5

Solution in next issue. 8

Secondary trump support, such as Q-x or x-x-x, represents a mild fit. Adequate trump support, such as Q-x-x or x-x-x-x, represents a good fit. More than adequate trump support, for instance, A-x-x-x or K-10-x-x, represents a fine fit.

In determining whether to make encouraging rebids, you should be influenced largely by whether you have a fit with your partner. Generally speaking, a good fit is worth anywhere from one-half to one full honor trick more than the hand actually counts.

For example, you hold the following hand:

♠ None
♥ K 7 4
♦ A Q 10 9 5 4
♣ A 8 7 6

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

If your partner opens the bidding with a spade, you have what is known as a misfit. In other words, if most of your partner's strength is in spades, his hand will not be very valuable to you. It may be a good fit, but you may have another suit, in which case a good fit will be found. But at present you must proceed cautiously. You, therefore, respond with only two diamonds.

If, however, your partner opens the bidding with one heart, or one club, you have a fine fit, more than adequate trump support, and you may jump the bid because you have slam possibilities.

You do not have three and a half honor tricks, but the fine fit with your partner is worth at least one-half honor trick, and you are justified in making an immediate jump. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

Arrangements finally have been effected for extension of the trans-Pacific airline to Macao, a Portuguese colony, in China at the mouth of the Canton River and about 720 miles by direct line from Manila, present terminus of the clipper ships.

The postmaster at Macao has offered to handle covers for the first return trip from Macao to Manila, Guam, Hawaii, and the United States. Rates per half-ounce are:

Macao to Manila, 15 cents; to Guam, 50 cents; to Hawaii, 35 cents; to U.S., $1.20. In addition, Macao local postage in the amount of 7 cents should be added for each envelope.

Send covers, self-addressed, with international money order covering all costs, to the Postmaster, General Post Office, Macao, Asia. Plans for the westward flight will be announced later.

King Edward VII, although no collector himself, has been in use for nearly twenty years. Artists, archaeologists, and other experts are members of the committee in charge of the new stamp designs.

LICENSE BOOST IS VOTED DOWN

After a sixty-five minute debate which culminated eight weeks' discussion in open council and by the finance committee, the Esquimalt Council at a special meeting last night voted down a proposal for an increase in the license fees payable by various types of concerns operating in the municipality.

The vote was four to two, with Councillor Frederick G. Eaton, the original sponsor of the plan, and Councillor T. Harry Hodgson voting in favor of the proposed scale, and Councillors Thomas Hadfield, Philip S. Going, David A. Henry and Albert Head casting their ballots against it.

The proposal was for a considerable increase in the fees to be paid by gas, electric, telephone, street car, alcoholic beverage and other companies and bank branches.

The general feeling of the council was that any application of the plan would involve discrimination against certain companies.

For a large part of the hour and five minutes the debate centred around the question of the provincial grants which had been taken away from the municipality.

Councillor Hodgson, pointing out that the provincial government had collected $32,000 in the last ten years from the beer parlors of Esquimalt, suggested that the municipality seek legislation to permit it to collect a $300 annual license fee from the parlors.

Reeve Alexander Lockie stressed the need for immediate government

University of Washington Crews In Brilliant Victory

Seattle Huskies Sweep All Three College Titles

Senior Eight in Driving Finish to Nose Out California's Golden Bears

Huskies Favored For Olympic Trip

By ALAN GOULD

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 23.—In the wake of their smashing sweep of the intercollegiate championship regatta on the Hudson River, two of the University of Washington's three triumphant eight-oared crews pointed today for the final United States Olympic tryouts and the goal of a trip to Berlin to row for world honors.

To fortify their bid in the Olympic tests at Princeton, July 4 and 5, the all-conquering Huskies from Seattle plan to send their crack junior varsity eight, as well as the magnificent varsity boat led by the four-oared crew, to the last mile of the four-mile race yesterday evening to de-throne California's defending champions and achieve the first three-place sweep in twenty-four years.

On Lake Carnegie and over the Olympic 2,000-meter route, equivalent to one mile and a quarter, Washington's oarsmen will be challenged again by five of the college crews they defeated yesterday, as well as several of the east's crack club teams. But the fashion in which the Huskies disposed of their opposition on the Hudson clearly established either or both of Washington's entries as Olympic favorites.

Ever since 1926 Washington has either blown up in the last mile or trailed to such an extent, up to that point that it could not overhaul the pacemakers. The Huskies, second three times and third on four other occasions, got the reputation for not being able to "take it" after leaving the shadows of the ancient railroad bridge.

NOW "GOING AWAY"
This time they had plenty for that decisive last mile. They won all three races "going away" at the finish: The Washington freshmen, winning the two-mile opener for the third straight year, beat California's yearlings by a length. The Husky "Jayvees" opened up such a terrific blast of power and speed that they beat the Navy by four good lengths, with three other eastern crews trailing.

Washington's sweep was the first since Cornell last monopolized the regatta programme in 1912. That was when the junior varsity race was a four-oared event, however. The Huskies became the first outfit to sweep an all-eight-oared regatta here, dating from 1914.

Navy, alone of the eastern old guard, put up a battle. The midshipmen, third in the freshmen and varsity races and runner-up in the junior varsity, led all other eastern crews in each race.

Summaries of yesterday's regatta: Varsity, four miles, won by Washington, 19.09 3-5; second, California, 19.13 2-5; third, Navy, 19.16 4-5; fourth, Columbia, 19.27 1-5; fifth, Cornell, 19.34 3-5; sixth, Pennsylvania, 19.37 4-5; seventh, Syracuse, 19.44 4-5.

Junior Varsity, three miles, won by Washington, 14.42 1-5; second, Navy, 14.53 4-5; third, Cornell, 14.59 4-5; fourth, Columbia, 15.22 2-5; fifth, Syracuse, 15.25 3-5.

Freshman, two miles, won by Washington, 10.19 3-5; second, California, 10.28 2-5; third, Navy, 10.31 4-5; fourth, Cornell, 10.35 1-5; fifth, Syracuse, 10.36 2-5; sixth, Columbia, 10.54.

Boston Bees Whip Chicago Handily

Upset Cellar Predictions With Win Over Cubs; St. Louis Cards Outslug the Phillies; Detroit Tigers Edge Out Boston Red Sox

The sports "experts" who have been wrong so often this year that they're developing a special technique in laughing off embarrassing predictions, are beginning to worry about their almost unanimous pre-season forecast that the Boston Bees would finish in the National League cellar.

The Bees haven't threatened to leave the second division yet, but their recent performances, against strong opposition have made last place look a long way off.

Following the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who broke Chicago's fifteen-game winning streak Sunday, the Bees whipped the Cubs 5 to 1 yesterday to hang up their sixth victory in eight games.

The St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies 8 to 6, increasing their lead to one and a half games.

YANKS STRETCH LEAD
New York's Yankees increased their lead, whipping the Chicago White Sox 9 to 6, while the champion Detroit Tigers edged out Boston's Red Sox 8 to 7 to regain fourth place in the American League standings.

The Washington Senators, who had been tied with the Tigers, were rained out at St. Louis while Dusty Rhodes pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to a 4 to 3 victory over the third-place Cleveland Indians.

The New York Giants, trying to come back from fourth place, put on one of their best slugger exhibitions to sink the Pittsburgh Pirates 11 to 5. Cincinnati's Reds maintained their slim fifth-place margin over Boston by trouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers 7 to 2.

SPEECH DAY AWARDS MADE

Headmaster of University School Presents Annual Report at Ceremony

Celebrating speech day at University School yesterday afternoon, a large gathering of students, parents and friends heard the headmaster, G. H. Scarrett, B.A., read the thirtieth annual report.

In his report Mr. Scarrett said the year had been one of exceptional difficulty, because of the large number of new boys who had to be assimilated into the spirit of the school. He claimed that the success of the school was "largely due to the loyal co-operation of prefects and teachers."

The Old Boys' Association, he said, had also worked well here and in other parts of the northwest.

Hon. Gordon M. Sloan, K.C., Attorney-general for British Columbia, in presenting the prizes, spoke to the students on the decision they would have to make on leaving the school as to the part they would play in life. He urged them to conduct themselves in school so as to be fitted to make the decision when they left, quoting the will of Cecil Rhodes concerning those whom he felt worthy of scholastic awards.

Academic prizes for 1936 were awarded as follows:
Form VI—English and history, E. E. Teagle; languages, D. H. Massey; science, R. D. Spencer; mathematics, P. W. Jeanneret.

Form V—First in form, J. J. Proudfoot; second in form, C. R. A. Senior.

Form IV—First, H. W. Coe; second, A. Soulsby; third, D. Usher. Shell—Upper, J. Young; lower, G. Boyd.

Scripture—A. Soulsby, Drawing—B. Lamont.

LARGE CROWD AT SHOW BOAT

Opening of 1936 Season Attracts Crowd to Inner Harbor

The 1936 season of the Show Boat programme was ushered in yesterday evening and attracted a large crowd to the Inner Harbor to hear a bright programme of songs and dances by the Harmonious Harvesters' orchestra, with T. H. Salick master of ceremonies.

Mayor David Leeming, president of the Tourist Trade Development Association, officially opened the show. He pointed out the asset the Show Boat was to the city, and how it was providing the citizens with a community gathering place.

A number of local amateurs, young and old, were well-received by the crowd. In the over-fourteen-year class of the amateur contest, Dolly Monehney, pianist, playing "The Waltz You Saved For Me," was awarded first prize. Dainty Bessie Hope, Chinese tap dancer, won second place honors, and R. V. Lea won third place with his vocal rendition of "Rose of Tralee."

CLEVER AMATEURS
Eight-year-old Iris Brook, with the song "Let Yourself Go," and a clever bit of tap dancing, took first place in the under fourteen years division.

Ida Bianco, nine years, was awarded second prize for her singing of "If It True What They Say About Dixie." Raymond Glass took third place honors with a ukulele and mouth organ novelty.

Other competitors were D. Clarke, "Bobby" Henson and Thelma Gatz, songs; Josephine Bianco, tap dancing; and L. Lavery, banjo-ukulele and mouth organ novelty.

Winners will compete for the grand awards at the close of the season.

Island Units To Join In Mammoth Jubilee Parade

Militia Forces of City and Up-island Points to March in Vancouver on July 1; Naval Ships and Men Participating in Event

Approximately 750 men, part of the biggest assembly of armed forces since the World War, as far as British Columbia is concerned, will leave Victoria and Nanaimo a week today for the mammoth militia and military procession at Vancouver's Golden Jubilee opening on July 1.

The island forces, under Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, D.S.O., V.D., with nonpermanent and permanent units, will sail aboard H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Vancouver.

The events in Vancouver will replace the annual war games usually held on the island.

In addition to the regular complement, aboard H.M.C.S. Skeena will be detachments from the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish, First Battalion, with pipe band and headquarters detail from the Second Battalion; the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, R.C.A.; Seventeenth Fortress Company, R.C.E.; A Company, Eleventh Machine Gun Battalion; Maintenance and Baggage Companies, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, and No. 13 Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C. Those groups will give the Skeena a contingent approximately 500 strong in addition to the regular naval force.

UP-ISLAND UNITS
Aboard H.M.C.S. Vancouver will be the permanent force's detachment, the Second Battalion, Canadian Scottish, less the pipe band and headquarters details, and the Sixty-second Field Battery, R.C.A. The up-island men in that group will join the Vancouver at Nanaimo.

Present orders call for departure from Esquimalt of H.M.C.S. Vancouver at 9:40 o'clock on the morning of June 30. It will arrive at Nanaimo at 2:30 o'clock to pick up the up-island contingent and proceed to the mainland.

The Skeena will leave at 2:30 o'clock. The ships are scheduled to arrive in Vancouver in the early evening. The permanent force will be billeted in the Beatty Street Armouries, while the others will be given accommodation in the immigration shed.

PARADE OF 2,000
The entire contingent, joined by all Vancouver and lower mainland permanent and nonpermanent forces, will fall in for parade at the Cambie Street grounds at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 1, making a complete procession of 2,000.

The men will be in full dress service dress and will march from Cambie Street grounds through Vancouver to Brockton Point, where they will halt for lunch before proceeding to the Oval to form up for the opening ceremonies.

A march past will be staged at the completion of the addresses and the units will return to their quarters.

Col. A. D. Wilson, D.S.O., V.C., commander of the Twenty-third Infantry Brigade, will take charge of the parade.

The island units will embark about midnight, July 1, arriving here at 6 o'clock.

In addition to the officers and men, the Canadian Scottish, brass band and two pipe bands and the trumpet corps of the Fifth Brigade will participate in the event.

McDonald Strokes Senior
Four to Three-foot Victory Over Usher's Crew in Feature; Max Winkler
Shares in Three Triumphs

Stepping up their stroke to a thirty-eight to the minute final drive, Jack McDonald's senior four beat the boat stroked by Chris Usher by a scant three feet to win the feature race of the sports carnival regatta programme in the Inner Harbor, today.

The event was sponsored by the Civic Employees Federation and opened that organization's day of athletics under ideal conditions.

The senior fours flashed down the course with McDonald's crew in the lead on the first rowing of the three-quarters of a mile sprint. Fifty yards from finish the boats came together and Don Davis, No. 3 in the leading shell, broke his sweep, necessitating a re-row.

On the second stretch the boats swung down, stroke for stroke; with McDonald's crew including Davis, Max Winkler and Jim Temple gaining the narrow decision over the Usher crew of Jim Mann, Wilson Seale and Hugh Francis.

GOOD TACKWEIGHT EVENT

In the doubles Jack McDonald and Max Winkler flashed in ten feet ahead of Arnold and Jimmy Mann, while Tommy Bishop stroked his tackweight four to a stirring three-foot victory over Gordie Scott's quartette. The winning boat included Bishop, Fred Crouch, H. Baker and Bill Ross with Ray Augustine as
cox. Scott stroked Lloyd Patterson, Jack Munroe, and Fred Parker, with Mick Smith as cox.

A good finishing sprint carried Jack Evans's novice four, of Gordie Walsh, Bill Osborne and Peter Bradford, to a five-foot victory over Jack Croft's crew including Don McMillan, Chuck Burgess and George Langdon. The race was so close, the judges awarded both crews prizes of equal value.

WINKLER HAS FIELD DAY

Max Winkler, who shared in the senior doubles and senior fours victories, made it a field day by taking Hugh Francis handily in the senior single sculls. Hitting a faster pace than his opponent, Winkler opened up a lead at the start and stretched his margin to win by approximately three lengths.

Mayor David Leeming presented prizes to the winning crews, congratulating them on their fine showing and remarking on the hard training needed for rowing. He also awarded a special presentation to Dan Moses, coach of the James Bay Athletic Association for his work in grooming the boys.

Officials in charge of the event included: commodore, R. F. Taylor;
vice-commodore, Alderman J. D.
Hunter; stewards, J. Wallace, A.
Wood and R. Huscocks; starter, Dan Moses; finish judges, Constable Dave nouncers, Norval Peterson and Sergeant Arthur Bishop.

Except for the mild outbreaks of Walking up and down beside the roses in the hotel garden, puffing a cigarette, he painted the picture of the extraordinary state the world would be in without microbial life.

"You must remember we are full of bacteria. For every one harmful microbe in the human body there are ten that are not harmful.
"If there were no bacteria, those roses would never die. We ourselves would die, but our bodies could not change. Can you imagine a world in which animals and plants never de-cayed but just kept on piling up?"
Sir Frederick is a very reticent man, rather halting, way of talking.
He is not at all interested in the social arrangements of the convention, and dreams the idea of making a speech at tomorrow evening's general meeting.

This morning his chief desire was to visit Mrs. Edith L. Higgins of Elliot Street, who is the widow of the first doctor to practice in British Columbia. "When she gets tired of me I shall go out and have a look at some of your gardens," he said.

Health Insurance
Subject of Report
To Medical Council

Relations to Hospitals,

Medicine Discussed; Reports Heard on Cancer
Study, Maternal Welfare,
Education and Other Subjects

The question of health insurance and its relationship to hospitals and hospital practices was discussed in the course of a three-hour meeting of the council of the Canadian Medical Association at the Empress Hotel this morning.

The question was raised in the course of a report on the work of the association through its department of hospital practice, presented by Dr. G. Harvey Agnew, Toronto, associate secretary in charge of that department.

The report stressed the attention being given by the department to the possible relationship of hospitals and hospital practices to any future plans of socialized medicine.

Attention was also being given,
said the report, to the possible effects of health insurance on medical practice in general.

The report recommended that the association give very serious consideration to the effects of a government health insurance plan on hospital finances, especially with regard to donations and charity.

A considerable improvement in the facilities for the education of young graduates in medicine was also noted in the report, which pointed out that fifty-six hospitals, representing 700 internships, had been approved or recommended by the department.

CANCER STUDY

Progress made in various parts of Canada in setting up cancer committees and commissions was commended in the report of the study committee on cancer, presented by Dr. Alexander Primrose, Toronto, chairman of the group and also a member of the committee of the King George V Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund for Canada.

Mention was also made of the work being done to further the education of the medical profession as well as the general public on various aspects of the subject of cancer.

The chairman outlined further possible activities of the study committee.

MATERNAL WELFARE

The lengthy report of the committee on maternal welfare was presented by Dr. F. G. McGuinness, Winnipeg, in the absence of the chairman, Dr. J. D. McQueen, also of Winnipeg.

The paper pointed out that sepsis, toxemia and hemorrhage were still the main causes of maternal mortality.

The report stressed the opinion that while organized medicine had a duty to educate the public with respect to the importance of maternal welfare, such efforts should be initiated, directed, and co-ordinated by an independent non-local body such as the federal Department of Health.

It was urged that still more time in medical association meetings be given over to the study of problems of obstetrical practices, and that medical schools set up more refresher courses in obstetrics to bring the last word in knowledge to the reach of doctors.

It was suggested that each provincial medical association set up a provincial maternal welfare committee to keep in close touch with provincial health departments, and to scrutinize closely all maternal deaths.

Provincial departments of health were requested to secure certain additional information on birth notices regarding the method of delivery. It was urged that a very thorough study of obstetrical procedure be undertaken by the Canadian Hospital Association.

Medical Education
Students in medical schools should be accepted on the basis not only of scholastic achievement, but also of such personal qualities as honesty, moral sense and general fitness for the profession, said the report of the committee on medical education presented by Dr. H. G. Grant, Dean of An unknown motorist early this morning caused considerable damage when he crashed his car into the corner of his car at the corner of Howe and Oxford streets and ran over find was the rear bumper of a car dangling from a boulevard tree which the driver apparently struck as he was backing away from the house.

Marketing Act

Appeal Debated

Ottawa, June 23.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett called the Supreme Court decision on the National Products Marketing Act worthless in the House of Commons yesterday evening.

He urged the government to take a definite case under the act to the Privy Council in London, preferably under the fruit scheme in the Okanagan Valley. This would be of more value than a mere opinion of validity of the act as a whole.

Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, said the government had made no decision on appealing the Supreme Court's decision. At the same time, he said, his department believed there was power under the Fruit Act to give the minister wide power over exports. Meanwhile the Marketing Act and the seven others referred to the court would remain in operation.

ADVERTISING IS DISCUSSED

Misleading Medical Talk on Radio Scored by Doctors

Yesterday afternoon the council of the Canadian Medical Association devoted a large part of its session at the Empress Hotel to the consideration of the question of fraudulent and misleading advertising of medical products over the radio.

Members were informed the Canadian Radio Commission would be glad to hear any reports of such activities in Canada from association members.

The award of Oiler scholarships to Dr. John G. Howlett and Dr. S. R. Townsend, both of Montreal, was announced at the meeting.

The council went on record as favoring the admission of medical books into Canada duty free. Members pointed to the high original cost of such books, and believed the imposition of a duty was a bar to knowledge of the latest medical developments.

Doctors H. S. Bennett and A. H. Goddard, both of Montreal, were charged with maintaining peace and order were entitled to justice, fairness and a little sympathy.

SAY SALARY DOUBLED

The salary was $12,000 a year, said Miss MacPhail, double the salary of the previous commissioner. In addition Sir James received other allowances, free ration, fuel, light, medical attention and the use of a car and chauffeur. It seemed ridiculous a government official should get almost as much as the Prime Minister and more than a cabinet minister.

The government, she said, should consider reducing the salary and such time as all Canadians were in a better financial condition. It looked as if the government thought the use of force to keep order was more essential than redressing conditions which made for disorder.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe said no change had been made in Sir James' salary since his appointment, and the allowances were what other commissioners had received.

"It is always easy to give advice after the event," said Mr. Lapointe, replying to Mr. Woodworth's charges about the Regina riot. "It is easy to say now that something might have been done differently a year ago."

"But I do not think it serves any good purpose to try to find that those who at that time faced great and serious responsibilities might have taken a different course than they did."

A whole lot of medical books, including the first volume to devote a chapter to the "glass books" used on the feet of Dr. Alfred Scadding following the Moose River mine disaster in an attempt to prevent gangrene, as displayed by the J. B. Lippincott Company.

A comprehensive exhibit of x-ray equipment of all sorts is shown by the Victor X-ray Corporation of Canada. The machines are of all sizes from hospital to portable models.

Other booths are as follows: Winthrop Chemical Co., Inc., standard preparations; Vi-Tone Company, samples of Vi-Tone; Libby, McNeill & Libby, homogenized foods, samples of pineapple and tomato juice; Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, charts and graphs of diseases, death causes and the prevalence of various ailments; E. R. Squibb & Sons, standard preparations; Down Brothers Ltd., surgical instruments; Canadian Kodak Co. Ltd., Eastman X-ray films and supplies; Macmillan Company of Canada Ltd., books, and Canadian Surgical Supplies Ltd., Anderson fracture splints, surgical supplies and motion pictures of bone setting.

Also represented are: Siemens-Reimneger (Canada Ltd.), electro-medical equipment; A. Wanders Ltd., Ovaltine, malt extract with cod liver oil and samples; Ayerst, McKenna & Harrison Ltd., digitalis preparations and anterior hyphoseal factors; Fisher & Burpe Ltd., x-ray equipment, diathermy apparatus, infra-red lamps, ionization units and motion pictures of operations; Charles E. Woodworth Suggests Sir J. H. MacBrien Be Dismissed; Bennett Government Set High Salary

Ottawa, June 23.—Demands for the dismissal from office of Sir James MacBrien, commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, or reduction of his salary, were heard in the House of Commons yesterday.

J. S. Woodworth, C.P.F. leader, held the police chief responsible for the Regina riot of July 1 last, and asked for his dismissal.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.F.O.-Labor, Croy-Bruck, Ont., said the salary and allowances received by Sir James were enough to make her "see red" and she urged a reduction.

SALARY SET BY BENNETT

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, said the previous government was responsible for the salary, and was not ashamed of it. Sir James was the only man in sight who could do the job, had been getting a large salary in another post and was with difficulty persuaded to take the commission.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said no good purpose was to be served by finding certain things done by hard-pressed authorities a year ago might have been done differently. Officials who were charged with maintaining peace and order were entitled to justice, fairness and a little sympathy.

SAY SALARY DOUBLED

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a man, forty-one years of age. I have found a woman who has shown me that life is really worth living, though I never cared about it before. If I am in despair her smile drives away my gloom. Just the sound of her voice over the telephone puts me on top of the world. In all my life I have never known the meaning of love and happiness until I met her. I have yet to hear her speak one unkind word to her fellow beings. She always seems to say and do the right thing at the right time. I can always talk over my troubles with her and get consolation. I would gladly die rather than to make her suffer in any way. If she goes away for a few days I am beside myself with worry over her, although I know she is capable of taking care of herself. Since I have been going with her I have never given another woman a second glance. Before I was always looking for a new playmate, for I was so unhappy. After four years I can still go to a movie and hold her hand and feel like a boy with his first sweetheart. I would like very much to marry this woman, but my friends think I would be foolish to do so, although they are very fond of her, because they say it is only infatuation, that I am too old to fall so desperately in love. Do you think that is true? Can I not trust my feeling for this woman?

Answer—Too old to fall in love at forty-one? Why, that's just the right age for a man to experience the grand passion. Remember what Tennyson makes the man say to the boy in Locksley Hall "and thy passion matched with mine is as moonlight unto sunlight, or as water unto wine." It is only maturity that can experience the depths of emotion. It simply skins the surface with youth.

Perhaps it is because boys and girls are allmer, more graceful, prettier and more glamorous than older people that causes us to breathe them about with romance and make them the heroes and heroines of our love stories, and attribute to them, feelings which in the nature of things, they cannot possess. Their loves are, as a general thing, mere passing fancies that have one object today, another tomorrow. They are taken by the way a girl's hair curls on her neck, or a boy's football shoulders. They think that because their stop matches in the dance that fate destined them for each other. They take each other "as is" on the surface and never try to find out about each other's tempers and dispositions, or what each has to supply the other's need beyond the requirements of a date and a good time.

These young loves seldom survive a separation of a few months, or stand the strain of marriage. It lacks stamina and strength with the quality of endurance and knowledge and experience. Life. It is just that love is a pastime for girls and boys, but life itself to men and women.

I have printed your letter because it is such a beautiful description of the love that a man feels toward a woman when he finds his real mate, such tenderness, such a desire to protect her, such a sense of peace and comfort and healing in her affection and company. Other men might well check their affection by yours, and if you are wise you will marry the woman forthwith and live happily with her ever after.

Don't listen to what your friends say. None of us would ever marry if we waited for our relatives or friends to pick out our husbands or wives.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been engaged to a girl for a year now and she expects to marry me soon. Has her hope chest wilted. She would make a fine wife for any man who wanted her, but I don't. I have changed in my feelings. I don't know why. I have lost interest in her and I've fallen in love with another girl. I need your version of how a girl would feel if she knew I had gotten out of the notion of marrying her. Shouldn't she insist on a hundred per cent of my feelings in the matter and accept nothing less. If I don't marry the first girl, I would want to be a man and pay her for what she has spent and the trouble she has gone to. Wouldn't this be doing the right thing as much as possible?

Answer—The only honorable thing for a man to do when he finds out he has fallen out of love with the girl who is engaged to him, is to frankly tell her so and refuse to go on with the marriage, no matter how much she wails and weeps over being jilted.

I grant you that the situation puts the man on the spot. It flakes him feel like a cad, for conventions hold that while a woman has a right to change her mind in love affairs a man must stick to his love vows. But don't let the fear of criticism wreck your life and the girl's, too, for you will both be plunged into misery if you enter into a marriage that is being forced upon you.

Of course, you hate to hurt the girl, but you will not hurt her a millionth part so much by breaking the engagement as you will by marrying her. No woman can be placed in a more mortifying position than that of having forced herself upon a husband who did not want her and who resents having to support her and who looks upon her with loathing because she has kept him from marrying some woman he does want. It is inevitable that such a man will be cold and critical of everything his wife does, that he will be grumpy at home and that he will find solace for his unhappy married life in philandering. Any girl with any delicacy of feeling will be eternally grateful to you for saving her from such a fate as marrying a man who is tired of her even before marriage.

Uncle Wiggly and the Horselfy

By HOWARD R. GARIS

On the front porch of the hollow stump hung Uncle Wiggly and Curly. They were playing checkers. Curly was the pig boy, who was playing checkers. Uncle Wiggly was the rabbit, who was playing checkers. Curly was the pig boy, who was playing checkers. Uncle Wiggly was the rabbit, who was playing checkers.

Uncle Wiggly shouted. And as he did so there was another "Z-z-z-z-z" and a BANG! "It's going to blow up!" the fox yelled. "It's going to explode!" the fox yelled. "It's going to explode!" the fox yelled. "It's going to explode!" the fox yelled.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline, but do not compel! WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1936.

Conflicting planetary aspects are active today, according to astrology. Under this way there may be optimism that presages disappointment, and judgment that is not infallible. In the morning hours persons who command power and fortune are well directed. Employers will profit under this configuration. But, what would be the result of this and difficult to manage. Class consciousness will be encouraged by radicals of various labels and there may be serious labor troubles. Political surprises again are forecast. Farmers may find new reasons for depression and discontent, although the severe prophecy of food prices and great demand for exports. Crop blights are forecast. There will be a sense of buoyancy and confidence in business circles. This is a day when there may be good news affecting both merchants and manufacturers. Abnormal conditions of the speculative markets may be disturbing and a distinction among persons who should set good examples in social and civic matters. It is wise to delay the signing of leases or other legal documents. Letters also should be carefully read before mailing, for many libel suits are forthcoming. Unemployment problems will continue to vex Washington. This sign is a warning of political significance. Many scandals are indicated, but the President's star will continue in the ascendant. It is prophesied. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune with expanding business or professional interests. Journeys are predicted. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly mental in their guidance. Subjects of this sign are thrifty and ambitious, and able to attain heights. Rebecca Hastings Davis, author, was born on this day, 1831. Others who have celebrated it: a birthday include Henry Ward Beecher, a minister and railroad president, and a city planning expert, 1878.
